

Advanced Skin Health Restoration

Changing the face of skin

In a study conducted by Clairol, 86% of people said that they wanted better skin. Our skin is a mirror of our mind, body and soul. It is the largest organ of the body and forms a complex communication network connecting us to our outside environment. As such it constantly reacts to restore traumatic situations, performing a natural barrier function. We all crave firm, even toned, clear skin, free from blemishes.

Most over the counter skin treatments promise to treat our skin symptoms but do not attack the cause of the problems. In reality these treatments add to the problem by blocking the skins natural cycle which causes irritation leading to inflammation. Inflammation is at the core of all cosmetic skin disorders, it causes free Radical attack leading to premature aging, redness and pigmentation. Inflammation has now been scientifically documented to contribute to a host of common problems and diseases sabotaging our health and well being and can be caused by diet, stress, environmental pollution, chemical pollution (skin care products) and sun damage.

We at Absolute - and indeed top Dermatologists the world over - believe that correcting the cause of the problem is essential, we need to stimulate the skin deeper where the new cells are produced, working with your skin not against it, resolving the inflammation not causing it. This may involve advanced skin peels, dietary supplements to attack the inflammation from the inside out and skin conditioning programmes (home care plans). Individual cases are thoroughly assessed and specific skin resolution programmes are prescribed. These programmes are skin repair mechanisms conditioning the skin thus preparing it for more advanced procedures as the treatment progresses.

The secret of the success of the treatments is due to using scientifically proven ingredients that enhance the skins natural regeneration process. These products developed by Cosmedix, are based on Nobel Winning research using Chirally Correct ingredients as well as Natural active Botanicals, to stimulate the production of more collagen and elastin resulting in firmer skin and less lines, as well as anti oxidants to combat the destructive influence of free radical attack.

Using these products Absolute can change the face of your skin, whether it be a one off ultimate glow for that special occasion, or a full blown skin health restoration programme to turn back the years and keep your skin as healthy and wrinkle free as possible.
